Morey is a myth, and the Democratic party will soon be one too.

There will be fourteen seats contested in the next Congress, and all come from Southern and Southwestern States.

The Presidential pension fund started in New York, is meeting with favor, and the subscriptions are rapidly increasing.

If poor old Cronin and the unfortunate Tweed were on this side of the grave, they would be ashamed of Barum. He is a meaner man than either.

Sara Bernhardt is getting onto the English rapidly, it is said, and when she returns to this country next year, she proposes to adopt that language in her plays.

John Kelly, who rules Tammany with such an iron hand, has been in office twenty-two years continuously. He has been in Congress twice, has been sheriff of New York county four terms, and has been city controller since 1876.

Alice Oates is again in trouble and very indignant. While playing in New Orleans last week, she disheveled her company, declared her engagement off, and told her husband, Gardner, to rely upon some one else for a living. He has been spending all her money and she has been doing all the work.

There is one paper in the West of a Democratic complexion, which calls on the National Democratic Committee "to right the grievous wrong done by Barum, Philp, and Hewitt," and that is the Detroit Free Press. But the National Democratic Committee will not have the courage nor the manliness to do any such a thing.

SOME RIGHT POLITICAL IDEAS.

Foremost among the men of this country whose saying goes from one end of the land to the other, is Colonel Robert G. Ingersoll. He has grand political ideas. He is a man of strong sense, of honest convictions, and is charitable in all things, probably excepting religion. He has been interviewed in Washington by a representative of a Democratic paper, and the great orator gives his views of the coming administration and its policy in a fresh and vigorous manner, and says something which is worthy of careful consideration. He believes Garfield's administration will be thoroughly Republican, and at the same time perfectly kind, manly and generous. He says General Garfield is not a man who will harbor any resentment, and is too much of a statesman to punish the irritated rather than to remove the cause of irritation. Colonel Ingersoll knows Garfield well, and he described him well when he said that he was poor in purse, but rich in integrity, and in brains a millionaire. He knows him to be intellectually, a very great and broad-minded man, and under his administration there will be no personal rewards, and no personal revenge at the public expense. Knowing General Garfield as well as he does, Colonel Ingersoll is free to say that he thinks there is no neutrality in the next administration, that it will be "one-sided," and that will be the right side. His definition of neutrality, or a com promise, is original, and to the point. He calls it "a proceeding in which two hypocrites deceive each other," and he expresses the sentiment of all progressive and high-minded American people when he says it is better to be on the wrong side than on no side at all; that there is no politician so bitter as a neutral politician, and no paper so utterly untruthful, malicious, and devilish, as the one which claims to be neutral.

Colonel Ingersoll's opinion concerning the future of the Democratic party may be said to be more weighty than his ideas of Garfield's administration. He says the Democratic party is the possessor of a vast amount of rubbish, has outlived its usefulness, is dead, and will not have strength enough four years from now to put a candidate in the field for President. He does not believe the South will remain solid, but will break away from the Democracy and finally give up State sovereignty. If it exists at all four years hence, it will be under a new name, under a new leadership, and will have some declaration of principle that will challenge the good opinion of the people. He then quotes Mr. Tilden's prediction during the late canvass, that if the Republican party was successful in electing General Garfield, it would remain in power twenty years more. When Mr. Tilden made this statement he probably thought there would be no change in the Democratic party, for so long as that party remains as it is, the Republicans will carry the North and remain in power. The Democratic party must be something. It must have some solid, some character, some honest men for leaders, some principle that is alive and up with the times, or in the words of Colonel Ingersoll, it must represent some living want. Until it does this, there is no possible hope of its success.

The great strength of the Republican party, as claimed by Colonel Ingersoll, is the young blood in it. The growing young business men and farmers of the country, are Republicans, as a general rule. They believe in a growing party, and that is progressive, honest, up with the times, that loves liberty, that will defend the rights of humanity, and that will never oppress a down-trodden race. This is the Republican party, and these are the reasons why it has remained in power for twenty years, and because the Democratic party is not like this, is the reason that it is dead.

AN EXAMPLE OF SELF-RIGHTEONESS.

The Madison Democrat puts on an air of sanctity in discussing the question of frauds at the elections, which will create a broad grin among its readers who are intelligent enough to understand the history of election frauds in this country. In the first place it commends the honorable spirit of the Democratic press and the leaders of the party everywhere, that have repudiated the movement looking toward the counting in of General Hancock upon technical grounds; and in the second place it declares we must have a fair expression of the people's will at our elections. There are very few Democratic electors in the United States with native cleanness enough to make this declaration in the face of the appalling and stupendous frauds that blacken the record of the Democratic party.

The argument of the editor of the Democrat is that the recent campaign was a bold and constant violation of the principle that our elections should be kept pure and free. This is true, every word of it, and the Democratic party strained every nerve to carry the doubtful Northern States by fraud and money, but the Madison Democrat, with that lack of honesty which characterized it throughout the campaign, charges that the attempted frauds and the illegitimate use of money, were on the side of the Republican party, and it exonerates the Democratic party from any responsibility in the matter. It preaches a sermon to the Republicans for using money in the campaign, but it says nothing to the Democrats for spending tens of thousands of dollars in the effort to carry Indiana in October; neither does it criticize Barum for importing tramps, repeaters, and shoulder-ladders to that State for the purpose of carrying the State for the Democrats. If the Republicans spent money in the elections, it was to guard against Democratic frauds. If they employed detectives, it was to keep the Democrats from using their mudsills and phylacteries in overruling the will of the people.

We admit that some of our election contests are dishonorable to the people of this country. We admit that there is too much bulldozing, too many undue influences used in persuading men to vote, too much bitterness in our campaigns, and entirely too many fraudulent transactions. We admit all this. But will the Madison Democrat tell us who is responsible for this unpleasant condition of things? Will it tell us who is responsible for the appalling and deliberately planned gigantic conspiracy to steal the Presidency in 1876 by the means of the ciphers used by Samuel J. Tilden? Will it tell us which party endorsed that scheme, stamped with the deepest infamy, to purchase electoral votes in the winter of 1867? Will it tell us who forged the Chinese letter, and what National committee hired the letter to be circulated as a campaign document, when that committee knew it was a forged letter? These are leading questions, we admit, but will the Madison Democrat please answer them?

Again, Probably the most ignorant and unparalleled election frauds ever committed in any country or any age, those that are marked by the deepest villainy, and stain the senses, were those committed in the city of New York in 1868, by the order of the Democratic central committee of New York. Such corruption, and such a total disregard of all decency and honor, was never before known in the history of any election. These frauds which blacken the record of the Democratic party, were not merely the work of degraded desperadoes, but they were prearranged and boldly executed under the command of prominent Democratic officials, and among them stood Samuel J. Tilden. What were these frauds? Tens of thousands of illegal naturalization papers were issued by the Democratic judges, in the city of New York, in a single month, and Judge Barnard, who afterwards went down to a dishonored grave, committed the shameless act of naturalizing 2,100 men in a single day! By these means, known to all the Democratic leaders in that city, some precincts cast more Democratic votes than there were men, women, children, horses, cattle, and dogs in the district, and in the face of these terrible facts, there was not a single Democratic paper in the country willing to denounce such a scandalous system of carrying an election. These frauds were sickening in character and so gigantic in extent, that the subject was laid before Congress, and the result of the investigation showed more disgraceful conduct on the part of the Democratic managers than was ever supposed could exist in a free and intelligent country like this.

This is the record of the Democratic party in regard to frauds at elections. We do not say the Republican party is free from fault. There are some bad men in it. There are millions of good men in it, and all told, it is the grandest political organization the world ever saw. It has done more for civilization and for the human race than any party that ever existed. And no Democratic smelling committee, however sharp it has been, has ever been able to blacken its record. Some of the members may have been dishonest and selfish, but the party never did a mean thing.

New York, Nov. 18.—The official census of the city of New York is 1,206,577.

BURNED.

Special to the Gazette.

Petersburg, Nov. 18.—Bowen & Son's armory and machine shops; Hagye & Comerford's manufacturers of silverware, burned at 3 o'clock this morning. Loss twenty-five thousand dollars.

CHINESE.

Special to the Gazette.

New York, Nov. 18.—A special cable from Shanghai says a treaty was concluded, yesterday, between the United States Commissioner and the Government at Peking, thoroughly controlling the question of Chinese emigration.

IRELAND.

The Situation in Ireland Summed up by the Great Agitator.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 17.—The Globe has received the following special cablegram from Charles Stewart Parnell, which it will publish in the morning:

Dublin, Ireland, Nov. 17, 1880.

To the editor of the Boston Globe:—The result of the new infamous Mayo invasion by landlord hordes, with those always constant allies of the Tories, the Orangemen, shows the impossibility of defeating the patriotic and powerful combination that is now organized all over Ireland against the tyrannical sway of unjust landlords and other agents.

Seven thousand troops will be occupied, probably, for fourteen days securing the crops on Boycott's farm at Lough Mask, and protecting their own communications from it—their job on land cost the British taxpayers $15,000 per day, and possibly the expense may not fall far short of $25,000 altogether. The daily expense, it is now estimated, makes every pound of potatoes or turnips saved cost Britannia a quarter of a dollar per pound. There are thirteen other landlords or landlord agents who are "Boycotted" in the neighborhood of Mayo, and it is calculated this new method will be adopted by the people toward 2,000 Irish landlords and their agents before Christmas. This will necessitate the employment of 10,000 troops to save the crops of these landlords. The people are organized, and with such organization the battle is won. Already disensions are rumored in the British Cabinet in regard to the suspension of the Indian corps; but it is now too late to stop the onward progress of this movement for popular right. Any such stop, indeed, at any time during the agitation, would be a step as the suspension of the Indian corps, not would be one of doubtful propriety. The government is aiding the prosecution and evading issues of them by refusing to give full particulars respecting the charges. Whatever of such is given out is of a very vague nature. They cannot charge the Land Leaguers with any overt acts against the constitution. It is therefore, not to be wondered at that the government is reticent, and hesitates as well. It is daily noticed here that the evident desire of the government is to postpone the trials until the next meeting of Parliament, so the members of the Land League may be withdrawn from the debates of Parliament. The meeting of Parliament will not probably be convened until the first week in January. The Gladstone ministry is much damaged by the Irish situation. The attention of the government is withdrawn from the question of Turkish reform, which was about to occupy it very zealously. The Irish reform, bag and baggage, is threatened by Gladstone against the Tories is imminent to Irish landlords.

THE UNFORTUNATES.

The Latest Particulars From the Burned Insane Asylum.

St. Paul, Nov. 17.—The entombment of the patients of the burned St. Peter Insane Asylum is completed, and it is found that thirty are missing. Of these only six are known to be dead, and their bodies have been discovered. The only one identified with certainty is that of J. P. Abrams, who was smothered, not burned. Among the others reported to be dead are Dr. S. S. Prudden, of Lake City; Columbus Newman, of Shakopee; J. G. Ferner, Hans Sarsen, and John Brown, but there is nothing certain about their fate. The missing victims not killed are supposed to be wandering about the country or hiding in the woods. The number of dead may be increased by freezing.

DE LESSEPS' CANAL.

Some Interesting Figures Relating to the Proposed Work.

PARIS, Nov. 17.—The capital of the Panama Canal Company will be 300,000,000 francs, divided into 600,000 shares, of 500 francs each; 10,000 shares being reserved by the statutes for the civil company of original concessionaires for the concession contributed by that company; 500,000 shares remain for public subscription. The issue will be made at par, 25 francs being paid at subscription, 100 on allotment, and the rest as required. The total cost is estimated at 600,000,000 francs. The sum necessary for completing the canal, over and above the capital, will be raised by the issue of obligations. Five per cent interest is to be paid on shares during the execution of the work. Of the net profit, 80 per cent is allotted to the shareholders by the terms of concession. De Lesseps states that the contractors have sent in their estimate, according to which the construction of the canal will not cost over 500,000,000 francs. It has been provided by a memorandum signed July 7, that a special American committee, sitting in New York, shall represent the interests of the company in the United States. As to all that relates to the observance of the neutrality of the canal, it has been settled by the law of concession of the Republic of Columbia.

THE COAL TRADE.

New York, Nov. 17.—George W. Newton, General Sales Agent of the Lehigh Valley Coal Company, said today, in regard to the prospects of the coal trade, that he thought prices would remain as they are at present all winter. They could not afford, he said, to give coal away as they did last season. He stated also the amount of stock on hand to consumers was at present smaller than it had been for years, which, of course, is an advantage to the companies. The amount of coal on hand at the mines was large, and there is no possible chance of a famine. Representatives of other companies coincided with Mr. Newton's views. All the anthracite companies seem to stand in the same position, and it is evident that they have effected some consolidation, so that they will not run on each other as they did last year.

COIN AND BULLION.

The Amount of Coin and Bullion in the Country.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Mr. Burdard, director of the mint, has transmitted to Secretary Sherman a statement of the amount of gold coin and bullion in the country Nov. 1st.

The gold coin is estimated at $527,681,173; bullion at the mint, $81,022,178. This does not include bullion held by miners and other private parties. The total coinage of silver dollars to Nov. 1st was $72,817,750.

STEPHENS.

His Opinion Relating to an Extra Session of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The Hon. Alexander H. Stephens expresses the opinion that there will be no extra session of the new Congress. Mr. Stephens thinks that all necessary legislation will be enacted this winter, and there will be no public need of an extra session. He says that the Democratic minority will be numerous and powerful, and the new President will prefer to have his administration fairly under way before Congress meets. Mr. Stephens says he shall vote to pay the superintendents and deputy marshals, as they have performed their duties under the law and are entitled to their pay. It is believed that some other Democratic members take the same view of this as Mr. Stephens.

WISCONSIN LUMBERMEN.

WAUPACA, Wis., Nov. 17.—Winter seems to have fairly set in, and lumbermen are in high spirits. Your correspondent interviewed a leading lumberman from Taylor County to-day, and learned that great preparations are being made for extensive operations in the northern pineries this winter. Already there is nearly a foot of snow at Medford, while at Ponoka Gap there are sixteen inches of it, and sleighing is fine. The informant states there will be unusual activity all along the Wisconsin Central Road, and that a great many more men and teams will be employed this winter than ever before. Since the election every one seems satisfied, and the moneyed lumbermen seem inclined to push their business to the furthest extent. Waupaca, which thousands of dollars worth of produce to the pineries every winter, and the present one commences very auspiciously.

INDICTMENT OF PHILP.

New York, Nov. 17.—It is said to-night an indictment against Edward Philp, for criminal libel on General Garfield, was to-day ordered by the Grand Jury.

FROZEN SAILOR.

Special to the Gazette. CHICAGO, November 18.—The body of a frozen sailor was found in Market street at an early hour this morning.

"Brooks's Bronchial Troches" are used with advantage to alleviate Coughs, Sore Throats, Hoarseness and Bronchial Affections. For thirty years these Troches have been in use, with annually increasing favor. They are not new and untried, but, having been tested by wide and constant use for nearly an entire generation, they have attained well-merited rank among the few staple remedies of the age.

The famous "Brooks's Bronchial Troches" act directly on the organs of the voice. They have an extraordinary effect in all disorders of the Throat and Larynx, restoring a healthy tone when relaxed, either from cold or over-exertion of the voice, and produce a clear and distinct enunciation. Speakers and Singers find the Troches useful.

A CORON, COLO, CATARRH or Sore Throat requires immediate attention, as neglected, sometimes results in some irreparable Lung Disease. "Brooks's Bronchial Troches" will almost invariably give relief. Imitations are offered for sale, many of which are injurious. The genuine "Brooks's Bronchial Troches" are sold only in boxes.

PERSONAL.

—George Seavill, Jr., is much worse today, and there are fears he will not recover.

—Rev. T. P. Sawin has returned from St. Louis, where he has been attending the National Congregational council.

—Mrs. Huntley, of Appleton, is visiting her friends in this city, and is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Hogoboom.

—Willard Merrill, of Milwaukee, is in the city today, stopping at the Myers house, and will remain until tomorrow.

—Miss Annie Sutherland, of Madison, is in the city visiting her brothers, Dr. Sutherland and Attorney George G. Sutherland.

—J. H. Balch is now kept busy in the Men-hunt and Mechanics' Savings bank. Will Burtlett having been obliged to take a rest on account of ill health, and young Jeffries being also on the sick list.

—Thomas A. Ains, of St. Louis, is paying a visit to his old home here, from which he has been absent some eight years. One attraction drawing him hither was the marriage of his brother last evening. Last Tuesday was the first time in eight years when his father had all of his six sons at the family table together.

—The event so much expected, yet so sadly dreaded, has come, for Mrs. Emma C. Dimock, wife of our well known townsman Edward L. Dimock, has passed on to the other side.

—The death having come about eleven o'clock this morning. She has for three or four months been an invalid, and for two months past has been confined to her bed. She has borne her long and tedious illness with a fortitude and resignation which has betokened a brave womanhood. Every attention possible has been tenderly given her, and all that the skill of physician and the loving hands of family and friends could do, has been hers, and yet all these could not stay the disease, and for several days past it has been evident that the end was very near, so that when the sad blow came it was no surprise.

—Mrs. Dimock was the daughter of Col. L. B. Hanks, and was born in Hartford, Conn., where she lived until the date of her marriage, in 1852, and then with her husband came to this city, where they have ever since made it their home. When she came here she met with a most hearty welcome, and her youthful vivacity and genial attractiveness, at once gave her a leading position in the social circles of this city, which position she maintained ever since, being a favorite in society, and a leader among the many friends who gathered about her. In these circles she will be sadly missed. During her illness lady friends have crowded about her bedside, and been constantly in attendance, and they will greatly miss her, but the saddest gloom fall upon her own family, her husband and her only daughter, for whom the most tender sympathy by this community is felt. Scarcely have we heard so many, so touching, so honest words of sympathy, as during the past few days have been spoken on the street and by the fireside, in view of the sad blow which all felt must soon fall upon this husband and this daughter, and now that the blow has really fallen, the sympathy will be no less general or less heartfelt.

—How to Save Money.

In diseases of the Kidneys, Bladder, Primary Organs, and Lungs, Back, avoid all unwholesome medicines, and plasters, which at best give but temporary relief, and use Day's Kidney Pills, which will save you annually many times its cost in doctors' bills, plasters and medicines.

ALDERMEN'S PASSIES.

The Mackay-Sylvester company which cancelled its engagement here on the ground of having closed its season at South Bend, also cancelled its engagement at Oshkosh. The Northwestern of that city, assigns as a reason however, an entirely different one from that given here, it being that the Aldermen wanted so many complimentary. Our city fathers may find food for reflection in the following clipped from that paper:

The reason of this is that the company totally refused to be, as they term it, "billed" by the Common Council by being compelled to hand over twenty free tickets to Aldermen. The manager of the company declined to do it from mere principle. He was willing to pay any reasonable license the ordinances might require, but refused in toto to plunk down free tickets for Aldermen, which he termed an exaction of private individuals and not a justified public requisition. There was no alternative left for manager Schwartz of this city, who had engaged the company, but to purchase the twenty tickets with his own money and present them to the Aldermen, amounting to just $15, which added to $3 license, would cost him just $18, a larger tax upon the taxpayer than the one he felt belonged to him.

—A Word to Our Readers.

When you hear of a remedy that will cure all diseases beware of it; but when you hear of a pure vegetable compound which claims to cure only certain parts of the body, and furnishes high proof that it does this, you can safely try it and with the assurance that it will help you. This is just what Warner's Safe Kidney and Liver Cure does. It cures all troubles of the lower portion of the body and none others. It will not help the tooth-ache, ear-ache, nor relieve a cold, but it will put your body in a vigorous and healthy condition where you can enjoy life and appreciate its good things. Try it.
